FINE FOR VIOLATING AUTOMOBILE LAW.
James C. Rogers Found Guilty of Too Much Speed Past Standing Trolley Car.

A fine of $5 and costs was imposed on James C. Rogers of New London Thursday morning in the police court here for driving his automobile past a standing trolley car at the rate of excess of 15 miles an hour on Wednesday afternoon and he paid. Rogers denied the charge.

The complainant, William W. Beckwith, testified that he was about to get aboard the car on West Thames street and Rogers, driving at a fast rate of speed, went by, his coachman, Mr. Beckwith, and he did not stop. The trolley car conductor also testified. It was claimed that the automobile was running at 15 miles an hour. This was denied by the driver, who also stated that the car was not at a standstill.

A Colchester man was sent to jail for 10 days for drunkenness.

COLUMBIA'S PLIGHT
OVER INVESTMENT TAX
Ecclesiastical Society and Library Association Relieve the Situation.

Selectman Dwight Lyman, of Colchester, was at the state capital Thursday forenoon and made a statement of the trouble which the town, of which he is the principal executive officer, has had with the investment tax of the investment tax and his story is of interest to every one of the other 167 towns in the state.

Selectman Lyman said that the only debt which the town of Colchester, carrying with an obligation of $8,000 and that was in town orders bearing a rate of interest of 3 1/2 and 4 per cent. Those who are holders of the notes have made a demand for 4 1/2 and 5 per cent, owing to their obligation to pay the state tax of 4 mills or the local tax on them.

The notes are payable on demand and the request for more interest or the alternative of demanding immediate payment of the notes, created a situation which the town officials did not foresee when giving the notes. In fact the holders were given to understand, when accepting them, that they would be exempt from taxation, and local taxes have not been paid on them. Under the stringent law of 1915 the notes can no longer escape taxation and some of the holders have to face the accumulated tax of five years at 2 per cent, or 10 per cent of the value of their notes. This unexpected obligation has lessened the immediate value of the notes though not permanently and the holders asked for an increase in the interest rate so as to reimburse for the taxes which they will pay under the new law.

There was one way of getting out of the dilemma for that. The town holders to elect to pay the local tax and thereby escape the state tax and afterwards the tax could be remitted by the town. But that would be too much like subjecting the holders to the ordeal of being whipped around the stump, and, besides, it might not stand the test of an appeal to the courts in case any of the town wished to question the action of the local authorities. A resident of the town had made an offer to take up all the notes if the town would pay him 5 per cent, for interest on the total amount of $8,000. That offer was not accepted. A woman who owns $4,000 worth of the notes made an imperative demand for her money and even an increase in the rate of interest will not induce her to withdraw the demand.

Mr. Lyman said the difficulty had been finally solved. The ecclesiastical society of the town has $10,000 on hand and the library association has $4,000. An arrangement will be made by which these two organizations shall take up the notes at a rate of interest of 4 1/2 per cent. "By doing that we will, at any rate, get the notes out of the town," said Selectman Lyman.

The ecclesiastical society and the library association are exempt from taxation under the general law.

When it comes to looking out for the local interests of a country town, let us turn to the town officials every time.

TOWARDS BUILDING ASSOCIATION

Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce Joint Committee
Takes Another Step—Appoints Committee to Draw Up Prospectus—Public Meeting for Next Monday Night is Suggested.

Another step towards the formation of a building association to erect houses to take care of the employees who will come here with the development of the Hopkinton and Allen Arms company was taken on Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the joint committee of the Norwich Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was held at 5 o'clock at the rooms of the Board of Trade in the Thayer building, where Chairman Robert W. Perkins presided and other members were present. Secretary John J. Corkery. There was an attendance of about 16 which included nearly the whole membership of the two committees.

After some discussion the first action taken was the passing of a vote that it was the sense of the meeting that it was absolutely necessary to form a real estate or building company with $100,000 capital to take care of the local situation.

This was followed by a discussion of some length as to what plan to follow for the formation of a company and the board of directors, which was settled by the passage of a resolution that the chairman appoint four men to act with the chairman in the formation of a real estate or building company.

The recommendation was also made that a group of men, drawn from both the Board of Trade and the Chamber of Commerce, be appointed to act as solicitors to secure subscriptions to the capital stock of the real estate company.

Chairman Perkins appointed for the committee to draw up the prospectus, W. T. Brown, J. J. Corkery, Frank H. Smith, and James L. Case. They are to make their report at another meeting at 5 o'clock this Friday afternoon, which was the time to which the meeting adjourned.

There was also the suggestion that a big public meeting be held next Monday night, at which the master plan for the building of new houses for the employees of the new company should be presented to the people of the city and that by having the houses to take care of the employees they would hold the people for the city.

He spoke also of the attitude of the banks, which he said were encouraging the building in every way. He spoke of the savings banks, which since the building increase had started, had approved loans to the amount of $250,000 or $300,000. The deposits had also increased very greatly and the banks officials were taking the position that as they were custodians of the people's money they should use it where it would most benefit the people.

He was before the city court once before this month on a similar charge and his case had been continued.

The boys said they left the city Thursday in a boat that belonged to a man named Simelevski, who had told them they might use it if they returned it by 3 o'clock. It had been left in the Shetucket river near the gas works. They rowed down the river and at Gates Ferry or Montville took four more boys on board. The trip continued down the river to Groton, where the boat was tied by the side of a power boat and the two Norwich boys visited New London. They left the strange boys behind and did not know what had become of them, they said.

CALLS IMPERANCE

CAUSE OF LAWLESSNESS
Mrs. Buell, State W. C. T. U. President, Makes Her Report at Convention.

That the prevalence of lawlessness in the state in small as well as large places is due to intemperance and that laws are broken or treated with contempt by old as well as young and a contempt for the rights of others is the result of drinking these "poisonous" liquors; that war is not patriotism and the less children hear of it the better; that children should be taught that the flag is the emblem of the country at peace with all the world; and some criticism of the legislature, were the features of the address of Mrs. Charles B. Buell of East Haven at the annual convention of the W. C. T. U. which opened in New Haven Thursday and was attended by about 50 delegates.

Referring to the passage of the legislature of a petition restoring forfeited rights to a man in one of the above towns who had been convicted of a crime perpetrated against a pupil of his she said: "When one reflects on the fact that the suffrage bulks large in the minds of the politicians, God give us men and women determined, brave and strong. Who stand for right and dare to smile the wrong." But she said we must teach the rising generation or protect them from young women when the legislature takes the stand it does on these questions. Yes, God give us men and women. Both would be best.

Speaking of the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the legislature she said: "A score more would have voted in the affirmative had it not been for a little finessing on the part of manipulators of whom there seemed to be an abundance in our last legislature."

She predicted that there was nothing surer than that Connecticut would have a prohibition law again. Referring to the defeat of the national prohibition amendment she expressed the hope that "Connecticut would be better represented in congress, but only time will tell."

Mrs. Buell referred to the death of Anthony Comstock and to a number of prominent state people who were interested in the W. C. T. U. She expressed a hope that the state membership would soon reach 5,000.

Other reports of officers and departmental heads were read. Thursday William H. Anderson of New York addressed the convention. Elected officers and other business will be completed at the final session today.

The convention is in session in the Century Building, a national service conducted by Mrs. Clara Scott of New Haven, which was received with earnest attention, and was responded to by Mrs. M. G. Purinton of Hartford. A collection was secured after noon tide prayer at 12 noon. The convention's afternoon session opened at 1.30. Reports of the officers were received. Today's session will include invitations for the next convention, election of officers, and addresses by Mrs. Laura N. Steele and Mrs. Ella E. Johnson of the foundation. The honorary life president, Mrs. Cornelia B. Forbes of Minneapolis was present at the opening session.

Among the reports made Thursday were these: The Press, Mrs. Minnie P. Cooley; flower mission, Miss Mary Day; anti-narcotics, Miss Nellie Starr; mothers' union, Miss Edna N. Peterson; soldiers and sailors, Mrs. Carrie Griggs; Sunday school work and open air meetings, Miss Harriet Cross, Norwich.
